"A LOST CHEQUE; LATE CHEQUE PRESENTATIONS; CUSTOMER DISSATISFACTION; LOSS OF REVENUE"

These are the worst nightmares for any bank or financial institution dealing with disbursement of loans, typically companies dealing in retail loans. On one hand, companies find it hard to keep track of the ever increasing volumes of post dated cheques received from customers and on the other, timely retrieval and presentation of these cheques. Invariably, companies start losing control over efficient back-office management. The primary concern being accountability, efficient tracking, secure storage, accurate retrieval and timely presentation of these cheques. This complex nature of work associated with the validation, storage and presentation associated with post dated cheques (PDC) becomes a tedious exercise, besides being a huge drain on a company's resources. Lack of expertise and systematic approach renders the system ineffective, costly and inconsistent.
